Exchange & Broker's Office,
Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS,
At his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times, answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeiters on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Ten Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber about the 4th of August, Negro Woman LOUIZA—she is 25 years old, about 5 feet five inches high, and stout; has some of her front teeth out, and is apt to laugh when spoken to; she has a sister Mapinda and a mother living in Georgetown, one above Semmes's tavern, and the other on Herring Hill, where she has been harbored for two weeks, and left there to come home, but has not done so. I expect she can be found in Georgetown or Alexandria, where she has many acquaintances. I will give the above reward if brought home, or lodged in jail so that I get her again.

Jones's Point.
THE subscriber presents due respect to the gentlemen of Alexandria and its neighborhood, for their liberal encouragement since the commencement of his establishment, and solicits a continuance of their support, informing them that he commences, on Monday the 19th inst. Oyster suppers, which will be continued during the season, and for choice wines, liquors, and moderate charges, cannot be excelled. Those who have not visited his tavern, will, on trial, find his accommodation to surpass their expectations.
Gentlemen who wish to become subscribers for duck shooting this season, will please to forward their names to me, as the number is limited, and only a few are wanted to make up the subscription. No persons permitted to land on the point except his friends. There is a good carriage road, nearly completed, and a warm stable for horses.

Gone to the Southward or Westward,
A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia Detcher, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were made with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two weeks ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempt be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

French Language.
WM. LANPHER
INTENDS opening an Evening School on the 15th inst. at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of teaching the rudiments of the French language. Applicants can leave their names at Doctor STANLEY'S shop. The following certificate is subjoined for their satisfaction:
[Translation.]
Having had the pleasure of a daily intercourse with Mr. Lanpher for several months past, we the undersigned certify, that from the profound knowledge he possesses of the French language, no person is more capable than he of teaching its rudiments and different idioms (which constitute a part of it), and indeed the most correct pronunciation. We have also had an opportunity of conversing with several of the scholars of the same gentleman, who, without ever having been in France, speak good French.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND DAILY ADVERTISER.
PUBLISHED BY SAMUEL SNOWDEN,
ROYAL STREET.
Daily Gazette, 7 dols.; Country, 5 dols.
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1818.

From the Journal of the Times.

AN ATTEMPT AT SAPPHC.
One morn when earth was free from snow,
And springs had not forgot to flow,
A man went forth to plough and hoe;
His name was Ichabod Beverly.

His hat was in condition sad,
Whatever his thoughts were, good or bad,
He there recorded all he had;
Of chalk was made his memory.

Tall was his form—his hair, coal black,
Hung like a lynch-pin down his back,
An eel-skin kept it in its sack,
With gripe of French fraternity.

He met a man (and I know who)
Said he, kind friend, how do you do?
I'm pretty well—how is't with you?
I thank you, I am cleverly.

ANECDOTE.

As illustrative of the republican simplicity and character of our citizens, the following anecdote, which occurred in this city some time ago, will bear ample testimony: An English dandy, just landed, ordered a suit of clothes to be made by one of our fashionable tailors, which, by agreement, was to be finished on a certain day. The gentleman being disappointed, went to the tailor's and rated him soundly for his neglect. "Sir, damme, in my country, when a tailor disappoints his customer, we send him to the devil. Ah! Yes, sir,—don't say that! I am not to be disappointed with impunity. At that moment a person entered, who addressed the tailor as follows:—Albion, I have a petition before the Hon. the Corporation relative to one of the avenues, and I should be happy if you would be present and attend to it. Very well, sir, says the tailor, I know something of the subject, and shall do so. Scarcely had he departed before another one entered. I have, said he to the tailor, placed a note in your bank for discount; I have not spoken to any other director but yourself—will you use your efforts to get it done for me? I will do my best, said the tailor. When the last person departed, a young officer in full dress entered, who addressed the tailor as follows: General, I have come to receive your orders. The alderman, general, bank director, and tailor, said in reply, very well, sir, you shall have them, and you will take care that the adjutant has the division on the ground at the precise hour.

The Englishman, who attended these interviews, very leisurely lifted up his eye glass, and having viewed the tailor from top to toe, look his leave, saying, sir, you may send my clothes home whenever you please.

From this circumstance it will be seen, that the avenues to fame, to honor, and to office, are open to all who deserve them in this country, and that the mechanic, tramping upon fictitious rank in society, can claim and obtain equal honors by a faithful and correct discharge of his duty—and that a tailor, who is a good citizen, cannot fail to be a respectable man. [Nath. Adv.]

From the Baltimore Federal Republican.

THE STRANGER IN BALTIMORE.
MESSRS. EDITORS.—This is a beautiful city of yours—I arrived yesterday in one of your steam-boats, when I got a black man to carry my trunk up to the Fountain Inn—paid him twelve and a half cents—got breakfast, very good eggs and beef-steak—clever fellow for landlord—after breakfast took a walk up Market street—pretty girls—plenty of beaux—light coats with eighteen buttons on the breast—high heeled boots—spotted cravats—bell hats—Cossack pantaloons with one button on the flap—every thing appeared lively—handsome Banks—wide streets—plenty of stores—foot way full of goods—guess they do more business here than in Boston—large houses—handsome signs—big taverns—steered down to Fell's Point—did not like the place much—went on board big ship—thought she was a prize—would not let me go in the cabin—told them I was a stranger—did not mind that—full of Patriots—handsome cockades—could not find out who owned her—made strict enquiries—nobody would tell—fine ship, all mahogany—fine looking men on board—all Patriots. I find you are all good Patriots here—more so than in our town—started to come home—stopped at a Hotel—got a mug of beer—read all the newspapers—saw the Patriot—funny paper—smart Editor—thought he was a Yankee—good paper—well conducted—could not find where he kept his Office—left the Point—came home to the tavern—got dinner—did not go out that afternoon.

While a novelist regulates in his fancy the affairs of State, he commonly orders his own very ill.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1818.

The Naval superiority of the United States is becoming proverbial.—A Copenhagen article of July 18th, says—"On the 15th we had the pleasure to see a fine new frigate launched; it is supposed she will be one of our best sailors, being built with all the new improvements introduced into naval architecture by the ingenuity of the Americans." [New-Orleans Chronicle.]

The delicate operation of Lithotomy was lately performed, by Dr. Dudley, of Lexington, Ky. on two individuals, one a boy 7 years old, and the other a gentleman of 50; and both the patients are getting well. The Reporter states that within six months this operation has been successfully performed five times in Lexington. [Ibid.]

A Michigan law "for the punishment of crimes," recently passed, has this wholesome provision: "that the court shall further award to the party from whom the money, goods, or other articles shall be stolen, treble the value thereof; and, if the offender shall be unable to pay such treble damages, he may be assigned in service to make the satisfaction; and the party to whom satisfaction is to be made, is hereby empowered to dispose of such convict in service for such term as shall be ordered by the court."—Receivers of stolen goods, knowing them to be such, are liable to the same penalties. [Ibid.]

FROM ST. CROIX.

Captain Anner, of the ship Chase, from St. Croix, informs that a short embargo was laid on all vessels at St. Croix, in consequence of an attack made on the government schooner St. Thomas, by a brigantine under the old Mexican flag. The St. Thomas being short of hands, was obliged to make a running fight, until she reached Basin harbor, where she obtained from the garrison a reinforcement, as also a number of volunteers; and thus manned, proceeded to sea on the 23d ult. in pursuit of said vessel. On the 24th captain Anner passed within a small distance of said brigantine—the government schooner St. Thomas at the same time in sight from the mast-head to the westward. [N. York Gaz. Nov. 9.]

Sailed on Saturday morning last, the fine brig Abeona, captain Foster, for Alabama, with 22 cabin passengers, among whom were four new establishments, with stocks of goods complete, for Blakely, viz. Messrs. S. Hale, B. Bassett, H. Munro, and Mr. Scott—also, G. F. Mott, Esq. of this city, who will on his arrival issue the Blakely Sun and Alabama Advertiser. This will be the first paper published east of the Tombigbee, in Alabama. It may be remembered that this brig sailed from this city just one year ago, with the first settlers of Blakely; where, on their arrival, they found a thick heavy forest, with no inhabitants, and but one house. We are informed that at this time there are about 80 buildings, and from 300 to 500 inhabitants; 50 sail of vessels have arrived and departed, and nearly 1,000,000 dols. worth of goods and cotton, have been deposited. We believe the growth town has not been equalled in this of this country. [Ibid.]

The House of Assembly of New Jersey have unanimously passed a bill, totally prohibiting the exportation of slaves from that state; and provides severe penalties against those who infract it. [Ibid.]

ROBBERIES.

On Monday, the 9th Nov. inst. between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock P. M. a robbery was committed near the top of the hill beyond Mr. Robe's mill on the Ridge turnpike.

A Mr. John Winter, who was on his way to the city for the purpose of purchasing goods, was, at the time, and place above-mentioned, assailed by a ruffian on horseback who rode up along side, and seizing Mr. Winter by the collar dragged him from his horse, at the same time dismounting himself. At that moment a foot-pad sprang from the fence, and grasping Mr. Winter by the throat, choked him almost to death, while the other robbed him of his pocket book, containing 200 dollars, which was all the money that he had about him, except a little change.

On the evening of the same day, between 8 and 9 o'clock, a gentleman coming into the city from Chester, in a gig, accompanied by a servant who was driving, was stopped by two highway men, near the junction of the Gray's Ferry and Middle Ferry roads, who presented pistols and demanded his watch, pocket book, &c.—The gentleman dismounted, and managed to keep them for some time at bay, denying that he had any valuable property about him.—At length the ruffians, having ordered the servant to alight, both sprang into the gig and drove off at full speed towards the city. We understand that they were ascertained to have passed the Middle Ferry bridge, since which they have not been heard of. The horse and gig belonged to Mr. Maxwell, inn-keeper of Chester, and had been hired, together with the driver, to bring the passenger to the city. [Philadelphia Union.]

SOUTHERN AMERICANS.

We have just received a voluminous manuscript in the Spanish language, addressed to the editor, from a distinguished South American, now in the West Indies—to which is prefixed a title to this effect:—

"The conduct of the new independent governments of South America, and their deputies and agents, towards the government and people of the United States, compared with the conduct of the Spanish government, its ministers and agents, towards the same; to which are added observations on the transactions on either side, as the circumstances are discussed—by a South American."

The author of this manuscript is an eminent military character, who has been distinguished in the cause of the emancipation of South America, in Venezuela and New Grenada, who joined Gen. Miga in his expedition, and who has been at different times in the United States, where his talents and character are well known and esteemed.

We are not sufficiently master of the language to peruse this writing with entire ease, and that off-handedness that we could wish; and the interest of the subject alone, could induce us to attempt it; we have looked through it pretty generally, and our familiarity with the subjects of which it treats, enables us to give it a finger reading, from which we venture to say, that there has not yet appeared any publication which throws so much light on the subjects of which it treats, nor on the various events of the South American revolution, nor more direct and extensive information on the transactions between South America and the United States.

We perceive, however, many matters of a curious and interesting nature, of which we had no previous knowledge, which we could dwell on longer if we were satisfied that we could do it adequate justice, by a translation—at all events it appears too copious for a full publication in a newspaper; though occasional extracts we shall certainly give, when we touch the topics to which it relates—but it is probable that if we can accomplish with suitable aid, a translation, we may present it in a pamphlet form to the public. Some passages of this manuscript are very eloquent and spirited, and as far as we have dipped into it, we find the frankness of the soldier, combined with the independence of sentiment, and disregard of all considerations but truth and justice, which become a freeman.

THE LATE FIRE AT BOSTON.

Several additional particulars relative to this calamity, appear in the Boston papers. The following extracts are copied from the Palladium of Friday morning, which comprise most of the incidents which occurred on this truly melancholy event.

The rapidity of the fire, under such peculiar circumstances, has never perhaps been equalled by any conflagration except that at the Richmond theatre.

It is said that during the fire, the front wall, from heat, had become so warped, that a part of the top projected towards Congress street, a foot beyond the base; but the whole, in cooling, resumed its upright position.

Mr. Barnum, the industrious, intelligent and gentlemanly master of the house, whose system and manners had given general satisfaction, and whose prospects of a permanent lucrative establishment had assumed a most cheering character, has had all his expectations blasted in a moment, and is a most extreme sufferer by this calamity.

We understand that Mr. B. had 16,000 dollars worth of furniture; and has lost 5000 dollars worth of bottled wines.

The honorable Mr. Clay had just entered his room, on his return from Salem, when the alarm of fire was given. He carried a small trunk to a neighboring house, and then took a station to hand water. The latter part of the night he lodged at the house of Mr. Blake.

The St. John's Masonic Lodge was sitting in the hall at the north west corner, when the fire began; and 70 or 80 members and visitors were present: but the most direct communication between that part and where the fire was, had been closed for some time. Property of the particular lodges in town to the amount of about 3000 dollars is supposed to have been destroyed—but most of their common property was saved.

This large estate was the corporate property of a number of respectable citizens, whose liberality in improving the institution has prevented their making any dividends of consequence.

The building was superior to any other in the United States devoted to the same public purposes, and its accommodations we understand in some respects surpassed those of any similar institution in the world.

To its other distinguishing advantages, the spirited proprietors had recently added a large number of bathing rooms—and a considerable additional real estate was a short time since purchased to form a more convenient yard, and make a commodious avenue for the southern entrance.

This establishment had become interesting from its central situation, and its apartments and attendance. Many eminent characters have been accommodated to their satisfaction in this costly hotel. It was here that the president of the United States, in his late visit to this metropolis was entertained. And there is scarcely a populous town in the union, but some of the inhabitants of it have been occasionally lodged at this coffee house—and many distinguished foreigners have occupied rooms in it.

The burning coals spread with the wind to a great distance, and much endangered buildings and other property which were at first considered as not requiring attention.

A four story building belonging to James Prince, Esq. and adjoining the exchange coffee house at the s. w. corner, was destroyed by the fire.

Among the tenants of places for business in the exchange building, were Messrs. Handy & Gibbs, (insurance office,) Messrs. Leverett, Whiting, Whitmarsh, Huntington, Otis and Pritchard; and the two industrious colored men, Sampson and Brown.

On Wednesday a boy 10 or 12 years of age, slipped into a barrel of beer which was standing open among the burning ruins of the coffee house, and was so scalded as to cause his death.

Much of the furniture of the exchange coffee house, and many of the trunks, &c. belonging to travellers who had put up at that building, are missing.

The light proceeding from these fires, was distinctly observed by a number of persons in the town of Newburyport.

From the Petersburg Intelligencer.

MOST NOVEL AND INTERESTING OCCURRENCE.

The following singular incident, we are assured by a respectable friend actually occurred a short time since, between a young gentleman and young lady, in an adjacent county. The parties both possessed a small property, were of respectable connections, and had been for some time engaged to be married. But some unfortunate circumstances having opposed and retarded their union, they were, in an unlucky moment, induced by their warm and confiding affections, to anticipate the event—and in the ordinary course of such matters, a fine child was born unto them. The lover now becoming indifferent or neglectful, and apparently disregarding his solemn vows; the unhappy girl was advised to swear the child to him, as well to obtain its maintenance, as to expose the circumstances, which had led to her calamity. She was required to appear in court, to depose to the fact that he was the father. She was young and beautiful, her appearance sorrowful and interesting, her deportment perfectly modest and correct—free from any affected sensibility and devoid of all forwardness. After being sworn, she stated that "she had only to say that Mr. — was the father of her child; if other testimony was required, it could be obtained from witnesses who were present." The attorney for the commonwealth remarked, "you are positive, madam, that Mr. — is the father of your child." "Yes, sir, it is impossible that any other person could have been." Never did a woman excite a more general sympathy than Miss — did at this moment. You might see through her eyes, the inward agonies of those finer feelings, which were repressed with so much dignity, but which excited such universal respect and commiseration. A solemn pause of some moments ensued.—Those who had gathered around to leer and laugh, involuntarily sacrificed their intentions to the more generous feelings of our nature. At length, one of the counsel for the defendant ventured to ask her a question; one which on similar occasions would hardly have been deemed improper.

But "the age of chivalry was not gone;"—the whole bar were ready to resent 'even a look that should threaten her with insult: a gallant young gentleman instantly rose to protest against the question—he was not engaged in the case; but it was impossible for "his heart to be cold, or his tongue to be wordless" on such an occasion; every feeling of his soul was aroused; and impelled him to denounce the course which was about to be pursued. The attorney for the commonwealth in accustomed eloquence, gave vent to his love and tenderness for the sex. A third gentleman, of good old age and retiring from the labors of the law, next arose; and with all his well earned influence, declared in the generous enthusiasm of his nature, his reprobation of the man, who could first betray an amiable and beautiful woman; and then cause her sorrows and her sufferings, to be sported with in a court of justice. The worthy counsel, whose ill-fated question had brought forth these bursts of indignant eloquence, seemed not to know what he had done, or what he should say; his condutor, however, made an apologetic explanation for him; complimented, in a handsome strain, the ardor and the eloquence of the gallant volunteers, who had enlisted under the banners of the unfortunate fair; in feeling terms commiserated her affliction, and declared he was one of the last men in the world, who would give it the slenderest additional pang. In this state of things, a friend of the defendant stated to him that he "was bound by every feeling and principle that could bind a man of honor, to marry that girl." The man immediately declared, he was perfectly willing, and always intended it. This declaration was instantly communicated to another counsel, who, (although, from the mere want of an opportunity; he had not spoken,) had been manifesting no ordinary solicitude on the subject. He requested a pause in the proceedings—the girl and her mother were called out and consulted—the former declared that she had loved Mr. — more than she could ever love any man again; and that if his former feelings towards her were unchanged, she would still marry him. He was then consulted; and declared his unabated attachment and his entire confidence in her virtues and affections. The gentleman who had thus interceded, insisted then, that as the affair, had been thus public, its termination should be public and instantaneous. In a few moments, but with some opposition by the father of the young lady, this course was agreed upon. They then all returned into court; the recent recollection and adjustment were announced and explained; their kind mediator, addressing each of them, earnestly charged them, not to marry, unless they knew and felt that their confidence and their affections were unabated and unchanged. This being declared, and a respectable clergyman being present, a licence was issued, and the young couple were legally and solemnly united, in the holy estate of matrimony, before Almighty God, "and in the presence of this worshipful court."

Let the friends of humanity be on the look out!!!

The following letter addressed by a very respectable gentleman, a member of the legislature of New Jersey, to a respectable clergyman in this city, shews that a high handed offence has been committed in that state, and that the perpetrators are now probably in Maryland with their prey. We hope the officers of justice and the friends of humanity, will be on the look out, and will examine strictly every drove of slaves passing through the state; and when this drove from New Jersey is discovered, effectual means will be taken to secure to them their rights, and to bring the villains who have kidnapped them to justice. We have the law declaring them free.—Baltimore Telegraph.
New-Brunswick, Nov. 7, 1818.

DEAR SIR,

I am here on my way home from attending the legislature, which have passed a bill to stop the inhuman traffic in colored persons from this state, of which bill I enclose a copy. There were 14 or 15 of these unhappy blacks at South Amboy, which the villains could not get off by water in time to escape the new law; but having notice of it, (I learn here) they took them in wagons on the night of the 5th inst. across the state toward Pennsylvania, with a view to get them to Maryland. I cannot now give as particular information on this subject, as I could wish: when I get home I shall probably be able to do so; but I thought it best to advise you of the fact immediately, that you might communicate it to the protection society, who will of course look out for the persons concerned.

You will observe by the law enclosed that these blacks are free. Any certificates they may have under the late act of 1812, are void, as the act is repealed. I make no apology for the trouble to you, for I know none is necessary.

Gill Nets! Gill Nets!

To the Citizens of Washington, Frederick, and Montgomery counties.

The General Assembly of Maryland will sit in the course of a few weeks, I take the liberty of calling the attention of the people of the upper counties to the subject of Gill Nets; that all those who may agree with me in opinion, may unite in petitions to the Legislature to pass such laws as may effectually prevent the use of them hereafter in the Potomac. Since the introduction of these Nets into our waters, the people of the upper counties have experienced the most pernicious effects of this practice. It is a fact well known, that many persons at the last season, after leaving their homes, with their teams, at the most busy season of the year, and travelling, perhaps, from 50 to 100 miles to reach the nearest landings, and after being detained there a considerable time, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and often without any shelter but what was afforded to them by the coverings of their waggon, while their crops too were suffering greatly at home, were obliged at last to return without any fish. Some procured their Herrings, but not one in ten could get the Shad they wanted for their families. These Gill Nets, it is said, are fished almost exclusively by persons from the Eastward—a covetous people they must be:—they would take the bread from our mouths if they could do it—and they certainly will the fish if left to themselves. It is stated they had 500 vessels engaged in this business during the last season; such a number of Nets will form such an obstruction in the river as to keep back the Shad altogether, and by breaking the schools of Herrings will render even the catching of them uncertain. And what adds to our grievance, the fish that are caught in this manner are not disposed of to our citizens, but are cured on board the vessels that take them, and carried as an article of traffic to some other portions of the Union, or, perhaps, to foreign parts.

The people of the upper counties are peculiarly situated; living remote from any of the Rivers, with which nature has so bountifully watered our state, they have only an opportunity afforded to them once a year of procuring fish of any kind for their families; and it rests with the Legislature to determine whether they shall be deprived of this right, attended as it is too, with great sacrifice, expense and trouble; and it must be known too to the members that may compose that body, that fish, from long use and custom, have become indispensably necessary to our families.

If any doubt should exist as to the facts herein stated, I have only to observe that they will be entirely removed by referring to any one from either of the upper counties, who attended at the landings either of the two last seasons, particularly the last.

Having said much more than I intended, I have only to call upon all those who feel an interest in this business, to lose no time in getting signatures to such a petition as I have recommended,—and also to see and converse upon the subject with such persons as they may think proper to send as delegates to the next General Assembly; and I have also to request the favor of the editors of the Fredericktown papers, to give these remarks a place in their respective papers, that the subject may be fully brought before the people of the upper counties.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

As the people of Anne-Arundle county, particularly on Elk Ridge, feel equally interested on the subject of Gill Nets, it is respectfully requested that the editors of the Annapolis papers will give publicity to these remarks.

Notice TO MERCHANTS AND BANKERS.

THE ago at present existing on the part of circulation medium evidently evinces the necessity (even as a defensive measure) of a Bazaar's establishment in this town, to counteract the overwhelming influence of the cities north of us.

The subscribers, therefore, take the liberty (as no other persons have proffered) most respectfully to present themselves as BROKERS.

They give a pledge that every matter of business entrusted to them, will be conducted with zeal, fidelity and secrecy. The Brokers generally are invited to correspond; as every necessary reference will be given. The Office is kept above the City Auction Rooms of John Jackson & Co. They commence on Monday next, the 16th inst., and they will discount good paper to a certain amount.

September 28

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria. It is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 4000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shade and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Blister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania. I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish-houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment. Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
GEORGE MASON.

Oct 31

Valuable Property for Sale.

I WILL sell my property on King, West and Cameron streets, being one acre, or half a square, in fee simple; fronting one hundred and twenty three feet five inches on King street, the same on Cameron street, and three hundred and fifty three feet and two inches on West street. There are erected on said premises, an excellent two story brick dwelling house on West street, with smoke house, stable, carriage house, and every convenience suitable for the accommodation of a respectable family. A large two story brick warehouse, corner of King and West streets, now in the occupation of Thomas Swann, Jr. and another brick warehouse, with dwelling attached, fronting on King street, occupied by George Kincaid. These warehouses are built of the best materials, not surpassed by any in town.—Two brick dwelling houses, fronting on King street, with sufficient room for the erection of other buildings, having every accommodation for families;—and a large lot on West and Cameron streets, sufficiently large for the erection of fifteen respectable tenements. This is a most desirable property for any man of fortune who wishes to improve it, or receive a good interest for his money, and offers advantages equal if not superior to any situation in the town of Alexandria. Likewise, two frame dwelling houses, fronting on King street, adjoining the warehouse occupied by George Kincaid. This property is subject to a small ground rent of thirty dollars and forty one cents per annum. Also, a lot of ground, in fee simple, containing ten and three quarter acres, two miles from town, on the old Leesburg road, near the property of Mr. Robinson, Esq. This lot is beautifully situated, having a fine view of Alexandria and of the Potomac, is well taken with clover, and is capable of the highest improvement. The above property will be sold together, or in part, and a liberal credit given to suit purchasers.

ON the petition of JOHN D. BUCKLEY, an insolvent debtor, confined in the jail of Alexandria County, for debt, notice is hereby given to the creditors of the said JOHN D. BUCKLEY, that on the 7th day of December next, (being the first Monday of the month) at 10 o'clock A. M. at the court house of said county, the oath prescribed by the act of congress of the U. States, entitled "an act for the relief of insolvent debtors within the district of Columbia," will be administered to the said insolvent, and a trustee appointed, unless sufficient cause to the contrary be then and there shown. Ordered that this notice be published once a week for three weeks, before that day, in both the newspapers published in Alexandria. By order of the honorable Wm. Cranby, chief judge of the U. States circuit court for the district of Columbia.
EDM. I. LEE, C. C.
October 24

THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Haywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land, abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Mr. J. Pherson: the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly susceptible of improvement from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.

PROPOSALS.

By Gideon Fairman, John Binns and Charles S. Parker,
TO PUBLISH
A Splendid Edition of Washington's Farewell Address.
To the People of the United States.
THE world has seen enough of warriors and of Heroes—enough of Statesmen—of men who have guided Armies in the field, or dictated as Sages in the Cabinet, for the exclusive purpose of Ambition. History from its earliest page to the present day, has offered to our contemplation, only ONE WASHINGTON, but ONE MAN, whose dangers in war, and labors in peace, were undertaken and supported with a single eye, to the benefit of his country; whose wonderful and honorable success, was the plain result of wisdom in design, and valor in execution; whom danger never appalled, nor defeat depressed; who, persevering in the justice of his cause, wooed Victory till he won her: who coveted no reward but the well earned approbation of those whose interest he lived to promote: who renounced all public honors, when they ceased to be the necessary instruments of good to the people, whose gratitude conferred them; who superior to all Monarchs, was content to be called the American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experienced, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union: the danger of indulging too much in party feelings:—the necessity of supporting public credit at home:—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition.
The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

MR. GEORGE BRIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline.—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at York-town, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman; and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address; & when it shall be completed, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr. Amies. The ink shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials. The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN; and the Typographical part executed by John Binns. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Security! A magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.
